1. Trainspotting

Director: Danny Boyle

Stars: Ewan McGregor, Jonny Lee Miller, Robert Carlyle, Ewen Bremner, Kevin McKidd, Kelly McDonald

We have all heard about this amazing and comedy movie on Netflix, and even if you are not the man who loves narcotic movies that will show you the other side of person's mind, it is still a great movie directed by Danny Boyle. It is the loopy saga of drug users and one of the few movies that abuses the uniqueness so that viewer could feel like he is on drugs when watching. It will give you another perspective from the point of view of drug users, and you will be able to laugh but with a sincerity that you didn't try anything like them.

2. Tangerine

Director: Sean S. Baker

Stars: Kitana Kiki Rodriguez, Mya Taylor

This great Netflix comedy is not only a funny movie that you can watch in order to make you laugh in an insensitive way. It is also a smart movie that will shed a light on the narrative that we don't see that much. It is a one day in the life of two transgender women, which are sex workers in Hollywood. There are many different scenes that are not just related to comedy and it is not a family movie to start with, but in the same time it will show you all relevant moments in the life of transgender sex workers and they're coping with reality in the world of political correctness.

3. Frances Ha

Director: Noah Baumbach

Stars: Greta Gerwig, Mickey Sumner, Adam Driver, Michael Zegen, Grace Gummer, Patrick Heusinger

There are many different Noah Baumbach movies that made an amazing impact on the world film, however, this particular one is considered as one of the best comedy movies on Netflix. It starts with a dialogue that acts as a central thematic statement, in other words, summary. Francis Ha is a valentine to his girlfriend and everything is based on them. There are numerous thoughts and ideas that make this amazing movie different but in the same time viewable. With friendship topics and perspective of women, this movie makes a different idea and provides out the different sub-culture that will be celebrated later. Even though it is self-sabotaging and awkward, it contains great screenplay and camera and that is the reason why it represents satire of lifeless and the combination of love and the city.

4. Tiny Furniture

Director: Lena Dunham

Stars: Lena Dunham, Laurie Simmons, Grace Dunham, Jemima Kirke

This is great movie rose to stardom when it got out with amazing actors and strength that you will enjoy. It provides you with a comical look on everything around you, and even though it is a self-made project that caught the attention of industry, this means that it is intact from the blockbuster models and that makes it really great laughing Netflix movie.

5. Heathers

Director: Michael Lehmann

Stars: Winona Ryder, Christian Slater, Shannen Doherty, Lianne Falk, Kim Walker

Even though you would think that Heathers is not that funny Netflix movie, however, it is the breakthrough movie of Winona Ryder and something like a clique of teenage suicide, bullies, and stuck-up girls. It is one of the best and darkest high-school movies that are ever made and that mystique is credited to Danel Waters who wrote a script that goes from emotional drama to black comedy without any noticeable transgression.

6. In The Loop

Director: Armando Iannucci

Stars: Tom Hollander, James Gandolfini, David Rasche, Mimi Kennedy, Chris Addison, Peter Capaldi, Steve Coogan, Anna Chlumsky, Gina McKee, Paul Higgins

This amazing satire represents military officials, politician, and reporters as funny women and men and it is root for different movies that became popular afterward. It is great and popular comedy film on Netflix that will give you a different point of view from the perspective of Iannucci.

7. Clerks

Director: Kevin Smith

Stars: Brian O'Halloran, Jeff Anderson, Marilyn Gigliotti, Jason Mewes, Kevin Smith

This is the miracle of cinema and it changed the way people think about amateur movies. It is made for $200k with home-video quality and great dialogue that is the main moment in the movie. It shows lives of two best friends that live in New Jersey and one of them is a video-store worker and another one is convenience store clerk. It comes with a huge dose of geeky pop culture references, profanity and slacker mentality. It is a cult movie that made an impact and that raised Kevin Smith to prominence along with Jay & Silent Bob that became Kevins Mascots for all his movies. This is considered as one of the greatest comedies to watch on Netflix. If you are looking to watch these movies and don't want to subscribe to Netflix visit these free movie streaming sites.
